Profile

Hi! I have been designing and building large and small websites & web shops for the past 7 years. I have also been a part of developing and designing websites with more than 15 million monthly visitors. Everything is produced with SEO in mind, so customers have the best foundation to be found in Google. This entails crawlable code, on-site targeting and blazing load time.

I have a strong results based mentality in which I use my design and development skills as a means to solve real problems for my clients by understanding business goals and delivering positive return of investment.
